LONDON, June 19.—The women of Canada will be interested to note the progress of Women's Institutes in Great Britain, for a Canadian, Mrs. Alfred Watt, of Victoria, B.C., who was instrumental in establishing the first of these organizations, Premier Baldwin has now made a contribution to the cause. The 12th annual meeting of the National Federation of Women's Institutes in London recently attracted 3,000 delegates from all parts of the country. The pioneers did not in any time, and as Lady Denham, the chairman, said, they were frequently called on to interfere, but to "stay at home and mind the baby."

Today in England there are about 4,000 branches, while Scotland, starting with 100 in 1906, has 160. The situation has changed and the movement is now self-sustaining and for the last two years has been able to disburse at least £10,000 for the benefit of the cause. The majority of the work is done by the Institutes, which have been able to engage the services of other hand-icrafts and generally speaking to reduce the cost of the movement.

At a recent entertainment given in the parish hall, Mrs. Phipps presented a number of her own work, and the proceeds of the evening were given to the cause. The work of the Institutes is now being extended to urban and rural districts, and the majority of the work is done by the Institutes, which have been able to engage the services of other hand-icrafts and generally speaking to reduce the cost of the movement.
